Adult Crisis and Outpatient Services

AMHC offers crisis assessment and referral for treatment 24/7/365 through the toll-free HELPLine. Adult crisis beds are available to stabilize individuals in need of urgent care. Individual and group outpatient counseling is available for adults experiencing mental health and substance abuse problems. Adult Community Support Services

AMHC offers case management, medication management, routine and crisis outpatient mental health, employment, transportation, supported housing, and residential services to adults with a serious mental illness or a co-occurring substance abuse or developmental disorders. The service goal is to reintegrate the individual into the community and achieve a maximum level of independence in the least restrictive manner possible.

The service includes individual, group, and family counseling, medication management, medical assessment, peer support, socialization, and transition case management support services upon discharge from treatment.
